

EMPLOYERS KEEP SALARY PLEDGES

Not One Repudiation of Agreements with the Guardsmen Found.

FEW COMPLAINTS MADE

Active Service Auxiliary Aids Many Families With Money or Work.

Employers of this city who pledged themselves to pay the salaries or wages of guardsmen employees are keeping their word. There are a few cases here and there of misunderstandings or of payments delayed because of payroll rules, but nothing has been disclosed to indicate even that the business men whose practical contribution to patriotism was the support of the families of their soldier workmen have tried to evade a self-imposed duty.

These were the conclusions reached last evening by the busy executives of the Active Service Auxiliary of the National Guard, the organization headed by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, and by inquirers sent out from the National Guard headquarters.

The investigation was prompted largely by the news from Camp Whitman that the Rev. Francis Duffy, chaplain of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, had obtained the names of several New York firms that had repudiated their agreements with the guardsmen. One of these cases, which has to do with the Adams Express Company, seems, however, to have been the result of a misunderstanding. The man in the case thought he was to be paid while serving in the army, but we cannot find that the promise was made to him by any official in authority.

A Twelfth Regiment Case.
The wife of a man in Company K of the Twelfth Regiment went to the First Cleaning Department office to get her husband's pay and was told that she couldn't have it because he was only employed as an extra man. We will try to straighten out the case on Monday and Major Allen Reagan of Gen. O'Ryan's staff is also investigating.

"Practically all of the complaints as to families left in need come to us. We cover pretty nearly the whole field. If there was a disposition on the part of business men and employers to 'welch' we would be apt to know it. We don't take any stock in the reports."

"Father Duffy heard of a few cases and got indignant in a hurry. We have investigated twenty-five or thirty statements that employers are failing to make good and we find that the complaints are baseless."

"Here is a case in point: We were told that the Hotel McAllen had promised to pay the wages of a guardsman now at the border. When we inquired we were informed that the man had left the hotel and was now at the border voluntarily on June 1, or more than two weeks before the mobilization order was issued."

"It has been found, also, that some men to avoid a family fuss and to make it easy for them to get away from their army, had told their wives that their salaries were to be continued. Some men jumped to the conclusion that their salaries would be continued. Some wives went away without having an understanding about the matter. It will be found that New York business men are keeping their word almost without exception."

"We have not heard of a single repudiation firm that has failed to meet its obligations," it was pointed out by Adj.-Gen. Stetson's office yesterday.

New York Central Denies Report.
It was reported from Camp Whitman that Father Duffy had included the New York Central Railroad and the Third Avenue Railroad. A reporter for The Sun asked Assistant General Manager Evans of the New York Central yesterday if the company had had a change of heart.

"Certainly not," he replied. "We are paying our guardsmen employees their salaries and are keeping the jobs for them. If there has been any delay about money reaching dependents the delay is due to the simple fact that we pay twice a month. The next pay day will be on July 15, or as soon immediately thereafter as possible."

A statement of similar support was made at the offices of the Third Avenue Road.

The Active Service Auxiliary has worked out a plan for the recall from mobilization camps of men who left behind dependent families. A form card has been prepared. It sets forth the exact circumstances of the applicant family, their living conditions, their debts, their state of health and other essential facts. Accompanying this form is an application for discharge.

"It is respectfully requested that I be discharged from the service on account of the dependency of near relatives. I enclose evidence in substantiation of the situation outlined above."

Certified by the Active Service Auxiliary, who may recommend the discharge of the applicant. It is expected that at least 250 guardsmen will be recalled because their wives and children need them more than Uncle Sam does.

The auxiliary is using some money in relief work, because there are a few instances of actual destitution, but most of its activity is in the way of working out a basis for the discharge of soldiers whose wives have appealed for help. Letters are received daily, letters that denote how impetuously some of the guardsmen acted. Gov. Whitman forwarded this letter from the wife of a recruit in the First Regiment, Company M, to the auxiliary headquarters:

"We haven't a cent to live on except his wages in the shop, and the shop doesn't pay any more. Can't you get him a discharge? No means of support for myself and baby. Can't my husband come back?"

One of the letters received by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt read as follows:

"I am in need of money at once to meet urgent bills. My only assistance has been from my son, who is in Texas in the First Field Artillery. I have a wonderful Russian wolfhound—will bring anywhere from $500 to $1,000 if the sale of the dog is properly conducted. My only request of you is assistance in selling Boris."

Dr. Caroline Hedges of Chicago has come to New York to sit all day and listen to the needs of the guardsmen's wives, and direct the work of relief by the Active Service Auxiliary.

"At least half who apply to us are about to become mothers," Dr. Hedges said. "Between those who have children and those who are expecting them, very few of these deserted wives could do it happens often that the mother of a guardsman can work, and for these we find jobs at scrubbing, etc."

She stopped for a minute to confer with Mrs. Frank M. Vanderbilt, wife of GUARDSMAN'S PLAINT.

Says He Was Discharged Because of Militia Connection.

ALBANY, July 8.—Attorney-General Woodbury received today a letter from Adj.-Gen. Louis W. Stotesbury a letter written by John Adams Gebhardt, Jr., National Guardsman, in which the charge is made that he was discharged as a painter by a New York city contracting firm solely because of his membership in the guard.

Gebhardt added that he could substantiate this charge with the testimony of coworkers. Gebhardt advised Attorney-General Woodbury that he is a member of the Sixteenth Company, New York Coast Defence and lives at 525 Wales avenue, The Bronx.

In his reply to Gebhardt, Attorney-General Woodbury pointed out that if his statements are true his employers have apparently violated either section 1480 or 1481 of the Penal Code, which makes it a misdemeanor to discriminate against or deprive a National Guardsman of employment because of his connection with the guard.

BIG RESERVE EXPECTED.

Military Trials Will Be Ordered for Delinquents.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—At the War Department the belief is expressed that more than 80 per cent. of the 4,000 to 5,000 regular army reservists called for active duty will report promptly. Publication of the fact that a call has been made for the men to the delay necessary for each to receive formal notification.

To make certain that other men pass into the reserve at a later time will realize the seriousness of their obligation to return to the colors when called, prompt military trials will await any reservists who now fail to present themselves.

Army officers believe that with the increase of the regular army authorized by the Hay-Chamberlain bill completed, an average of more than 25,000 trained men will pass annually into the reserve. Since the period of reserve service is four years, it is estimated that a minimum reserve strength of nearly 75,000 men will be constantly maintained when the system is in full working order.

MEXICAN LEADERS PLAN PARLEY IN U. S.

The famous Arrieta brothers, to Luis Arrieta, at the head of 1,200 men, were to capture Contreras, the Villista commander, and to annihilate the command.

Gen. Arrieta telegraphed to Gen. Trevino that he had overtaken the Villistas at 2 o'clock this morning on the Urbana ranch and would attack today. Arrieta is supported by a pool of soldiers from the Chihuahua column, and opposing him is believed to be at least 2,000 veteran Villista troops of the old Brigada Villa and Brigada del Norte.

A report reached the border this morning that the Santa Rosalia garrison, in command of Col. Lopez, had been reinforced and had joined the Villistas. This garrison is small and is known to have been strongly Villista, as is the Parral garrison.

The Tenth and Sixteenth Pennsylvania Infantry arrived at Camp Pershing today.

ROOSEVELT TO THE CAMP.

Colonel Ready to Go to Plattsburg—Family Near There.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 8.—Major Dewitt, chief medical officer of the camp of military instruction, has completed a physical exam of the young men of the student camp, and among the 3,300 members of the two regiments he has found only thirty-one of the collegians with any defective and necessary to be rejected.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and family are now guests at Hotel Windsor, Elizabethtown, on Lake Champlain, about forty miles south of this city. They have taken rooms there for the summer to be near Mr. Roosevelt, who on next Tuesday will leave in Plattsburg to join the training camp for business and professional men, which opens the following day.

Col. Roosevelt is expected to spend several days with his four sons, who will be in the camp.

JERSEY CAVALRY EXPECTED.

Troops B and D Are Due at Camp in Douglas To-day.

DOUGLAS, ARIZ., July 8.—Troops B and D of the First Squadron New Jersey cavalry, Major William A. Bryant commanding, are due in camp to-morrow morning. Their arrival will complete the New Jersey order of troops and the Jersey men are taking things easy while becoming acclimated. The horses are suffering from the heat and a number have died. Owing to their condition none of the mounts are used in the drills.

The Twenty-third and Seventy-fourth are due to reach Plattsburg Monday noon. Brig.-Gen. James Wilson will arrive at the same time to take command there.

Gen. O'Ryan is highly appreciative of the treatment the New York men have received from the citizens of McAllen, Mission and Pharr. The Texans have extended themselves to provide camp sites, water supplies and other necessities to make the sojourn of the division as pleasant as possible.

Frank P. Janner of the Hospital Corps, Fourteenth Infantry, was overcome this afternoon while bathing in the irrigation canal just south of Mission, where the regiment is encamped. The men bathing with him seemed not to appreciate his danger and Corporal Thomas Wallace of Company A went in after him. Janner was unconscious when brought to the bank and is in the hospital. Wallace, who lives at 455 Sixth avenue, Brooklyn, was publicly complimented by his commander, Capt. Leon de Garmo, for his action. Water is the Fourteenth's Nemesis. It lost two men by drowning at Pliskit Plain last year and two while en route to Mission.

Military Workers Organize.
The Universal Military Service Workers of America have organized to suggest plans for universal training along the lines of the systems now followed in Switzerland and Australia, modified to meet conditions in the United States. Members of the organization, through personal appeals to their Congressmen, will try to have laws passed to provide a larger army and navy and various other preparatory measures.

Three weeks of mobilization activity has sent 38,000 militiamen to the Southern border from the twenty-one States in the Department of the East and has placed 53,000 in the home camps of those States. The 38,000 now encamped along the border or on their way to the border are the pick of the guardsmen of the country, the best trained and best equipped, but it required an enormous amount of effort to get them gathered. Staff officers of the regular army point to these figures as sufficient evidence of the lack of coordination in the National Guard and as proof that the system of equipping and transporting militia troops is outworn and inefficient. If it required three times as long for the United States to put 38,000 men in the field as it took the French Government to get 3,000,000 men ready for service, what would happen, staff officers ask, if the War Department found it necessary to handle 150,000 men to a given point at top speed?

It is estimated that there will be 90,000 soldiers guarding the border by to-morrow night. 40,000 militiamen from the Department of the East, 20,000 from the rest of the country and 30,000 from the regular army.

Reports to Governors Island from the border show that the State militiamen now encamped there are beginning to get some real training and that conditions as regards water, food, discipline and the spirit of the men are excellent. It is believed in army circles here that the militia will be kept on the Mexican border for six months, at least, and that the United States will have a mighty little army of about 150,000 splendidly trained, thoroughly equipped and perfectly seasoned men by January 1 next. Four batteries of the Second Field Artillery, A, B, E and F, entrained last night at Yonkers and Batteries C and D will go this morning. Col. George A. Wright, commanding the regiment, will leave to-day with the headquarters staff. It will require seven trains of eighteen cars each to carry the artillerymen. The trains will halt eight hours after every twenty-four so that the 900 artillery horses can be exercised. The regiment goes by way of Chicago and Kansas City. Every one of the 1,028 men was vaccinated yesterday or on Friday. Batteries A, B and C are from Brooklyn and Batteries D, E and F from The Bronx.
